

Illinois State University

ISU ReD: Research and eData

Serving Students: The Legacy of Milner's Library

Milner Library Exhibits

2018

Slide deck 13: Acknowledgments (1 panel)

Angela L. Bonnell

Illinois State University, abonne@ilstu.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.library.illinoisstate.edu/servingstudents>

Recommended Citation

Bonnell, Angela L., "Slide deck 13: Acknowledgments (1 panel)" (2018). Serving Students: The Legacy of Milner's Library. 4.

<https://ir.library.illinoisstate.edu/servingstudents/4>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Milner Library Exhibits at ISU ReD: Research and eData. It has been accepted for inclusion in Serving Students: The Legacy of Milner's Library by an authorized administrator of ISU ReD: Research and eData. For more information, please contact ISURed@ilstu.edu.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many individuals and sources contributed to this exhibit since planning began in the summer of 2016. Grace Allbaugh, Stephanie Campbell, Magdalena Casper-Shipp, Christine Fary, Sandy Roe, Vanette Schwartz and Angela Yon provided research in its nascent stages. Many of the photographs and other images displayed originate from University Archives with expert assistance from April Anderson and Julie Neville. Other images were provided courtesy of Lyndsie Schlink at University Marketing and Communications, Becky Franz from Facilities, Planning and Construction, and Bill Kemp and George Perkins at the McLean County Museum of History. Digital Center's Sara Caldwell, Jim Cunningham, and Patrice Prud'homme digitized new images specifically for this exhibit, particularly noteworthy is the life-size Ange. V. Milner! Krena Hoyt created the mechanism to digitally store and share many large files. Elias Wrightam created the exhibit's design; he also deserves thanks and credit for his patience as the exhibit changed several times during its planning. Kathleen Lonbom, Jen Hunt Johnson, Jenny Hansen, Jessica Martin, Ryan Peters and Jim Caselton assisted throughout the exhibit's installation. Milner Library Administration Dean Shari Zeck and Associate Deans Chad Kahl and Dallas Long provided early and ongoing direction and support.

It is an honor to work at Illinois State University with its rich past. Primary source material from the University and community reveal Ange. V. Milner and her successors as dedicated librarians serving students' research needs. Student-created sources, such as the Index (the student yearbook) and the Vidette (the student newspaper), were invaluable research materials that clearly illustrated the Library has been at the center of student life from the University's beginning.

If you are interested in learning more about any of the libraries from Illinois State University's past, or better yet, willing to share your own library stories, please contact:

Angela Bonnell
Head of Government Documents
abonne@ilstu.edu
(309) 438-2354